MISS MAE DAY TO WIN LAUREL

Elliott Mare Seems to Have Chance of Annexing Delmar Stake To-Day.

HAYES ENTRY IS DANGEROUS.

Contest Between Footlights Favorite and Commodore Should Be Exciting-Arlena Should Repeat in Third.

Miss Mae Day, if right, looks like the oods in the Laurel Handicap at Delmar to-day. It is said that she has been ointed for the race, and with anything like a ride, should hang up the winning number for the Elliott stable.

Sylvia Talbot, with top weight and en her recent bad performances, does not seem to figure in the contention for the hig purse. The Hayes entry is a dangerous factor and may carry the red and green tobacco leaf to victory if Anne Davis is fleet enough to break Mae Day's Frank Bell has had a good rest, is in light and seems to have a royal chance to show. In view of his last two outs, Malster don't seem to have a look in on a fast track.

Although honored with top weight, Secand Mate looks a shade the best in the first event. He has speed, likes the route, and will not be stopped by the impost. Sanctissima's recent good race give her a good chance to be second. Trogon may get the short end of the purse if he gets off good.

Ollie Burnett likes the route in the second and seems to have the class of the bunch. Trixle White will set the pace for a while, but Burnett should catch her in the final strides. Sand Bath showed a climpse of form last out, which may land him in third place.

On past performances Arlena, one of the most consistent performers at the track, should again earn brackets to-day. Draden will probably run an improved horse over his last attempt, but he can scarce give Arlena three pounds in her present great form.

Arlena three pounds in her present great form.

With only 190 pounds up Footlights Favorite may run back to one of her good races, and this will take all the money in the fifth. Despite his 115 pounds, Commodore should be no worse than second.

In the sixth event Bengal looks to have the best chance, and may turn the trick. Miss Bon is back in form and should dispose of Check Morgan for the place. Check will like the weight, and the route is just about right.

Ben Lear has shown some stamina recently, and, with courage enough to carry his speed in the plach at the end, may land another race to-day. Whiskers has the foot of the balance and seems a likely candidate for second place. Mindora is some improved and has a royal chance for third position.

HIGH PRICES FOR HORSES. Thousands of Dollars Being Paid for Choice Ones at East St. Louis. The sale of fancy horses at the National Stock Yards, East St. Louis, Ill., yesterday elicited some high prices for choice rings. The buyers who were on hand from Europe bid up lively on everything that was good, and few of the local fanciers who wanted high-class horses had an opportunity to secure them.

Harry McNair of Chicago obtained the finest pair of coachers on a bid of $1,090. Many single horses sold at $500 to $600.

The sale is proving one of the most important ever held in the St. Louis market, and several hundred thousand dollars will change hands before it is over.

Peter Hauptman of St. Louis secured a choice roadster for $500, and various East St. Louis purchasers bought horses for high prices.

KING ROSE BEATEN BY INGOLTHRIFT

Givens Colt Managed to Come Home Ahead of Favorite in Fourth Event, After Leading All the Way.

Considering the class of horses which made up the fields in the various events at Delmar yesterday, racing was more than ordinarily formful. In two of the six races, heavily played public choices came home first, while in enother the short-priced favorite finished second. In the latter case, King Rose was the horse to go down to defeat. On his recent races behind Jake Greenberg the King Eric gelding looked to be in a soft spot and his downfall, especially at the hands of Ingolthrift led to more or less gossip of form reversal.
